

APASS PEER Dashboard 2010 – 2011

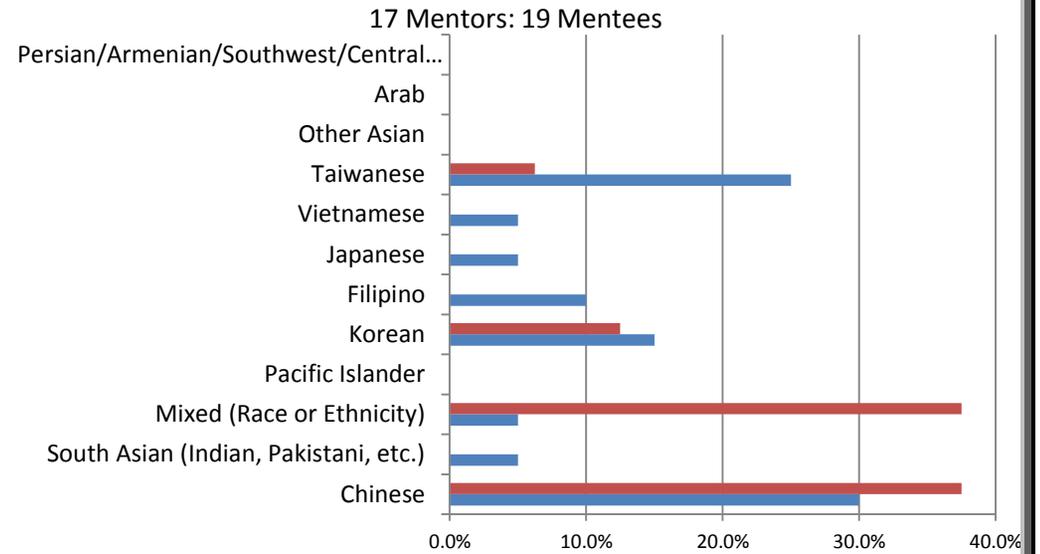

Total Program Budget (excluding staff wages)

Program Highlights

- ✓ 57% of mentees agree and 43% strongly agree that their mentor was a valuable resource (answering questions, offering useful referrals, open dialogue) for their first year at USC.
- ✓ 71% of mentors agree and 29% strongly agree the trainings prepared them to be useful emotional and educational resources to their mentees.
- ✓ A mentee says, "Having a PEER mentor reaffirmed that there are people out there who are willing to listen and support you in a new environment."
- ✓ A mentor says, "We encouraged each other during hard times and also shared joys and happiness. I'm amazed by how much I can help a person and how rewarding the experience has been. I have a strong relationship with my mentee, and my goal is to be a life-long mentor to her."

% Ethnicity of Mentors (Red/Top Bar) and Mentees (Blue/Bottom Bar)

Areas of Improvement

- ✓ 29% of mentees had inconsistent communication with their mentor.
- ✓ Data revealed that while mentors were learning more, the information is not necessarily being transmitted to mentees. For example, 86% of mentors could identify at least 3 historical moments that have shaped the API experience, but only 14% of mentees could.
- ✓ Increase South Asian and Pacific Islander participation.

New Directions

- ✓ The redesign of the PEER program (PEER Community model) incorporates data, participant feedback, and benchmarking. New components will include: joint trainings; PEER Community programs; and the integration of specific training modules directly into supervision sessions.
- ✓ Garner and maintain strong mentor and especially mentee commitment.
